

Contents

Franziska Muche
Introduction	7
Peter Scott
Europe on the higher education world map	13
Christian Tauch
The Bologna Process: state of implementation and external dimension	23
Angelika Schade
Quality assurance and accreditation: confidence-building or multiplication of national, European and global agencies?	31
Jochen Hellmann and Courtney Peltzer-Hönicke
Globalization in higher education: the growing importance of quality-oriented admissions procedures	37
Sjur Bergan
Recognizing Bologna: the three cycle structure – a global reference?	43
Salvador Malo
Latin America between the US and Europe: can Bologna open new perspectives?	53
Krishnapratap B. Powar
Asia: from importers of education to partners in cooperation – an India-centric appraisal	61
Ulf Lie
Africa – the forgotten continent?	69
Catharine R. Stimpson
Less hand wringing, more hand shaking: a United States perspective	79
Karel Reus
The international higher education marketplace: lessons from the Australian experience	85
Volker Gehmlich
European higher education institutions at the eve of a new experience: competition tools and concepts of survival	93

Pieter van Dijk

Europe as an immigration union for talent: highly skilled migrants and the concept of the knowledge worker 105

Ulrich Teichler

Non-European students: the forgotten half of the Bologna-Process? 111

Peter van der Hijden

Towards a global qualifications framework? Bologna as a model for global cooperation in higher education . . 121

Annex 127