

Contents

Introduction: Governing ambiguities: dynamics, institutions, actors Emanuela Bozzini and Bernard Enjolras	11
Introduction	11
Governance: an emerging concept	12
The ambiguities of network governance	15
The structure of the book	17
Concluding remarks	20
Territorialised Governance of Care Services in Europe: Local Diversity and Participation Francesca Petrella and Nadine Richez-Battesti	23
Introduction	23
Welfare state regimes and territorialised governance of care services	26
Starting from the Welfare state regimes' typology	26
Governance and territory: the emergence of local compromises	27
Multiple actors with shared responsibilities: fragmentation or construction of a welfare mix?	29
Decentralisation of authority: the role of territorial governments	30
Uneven private sector dynamics	32
A growing, innovative role for the third sector: provider or partner?	33
Regulating diversification: more competition, fewer hierarchies?	35
The shift from supply support to demand support	36
The easing of public regulation of quality	37
Conclusion: Challenges of the territorial governance of care services	38
Governance and failure in local strategic multi-sectoral partnerships: the cases of LSP (England) and Rede Social (Portugal) Silvia Ferreira	39
Introduction	39
Observing observation	41
The Case Studies: The Local Strategic Partnership (LSP) and the Rede Social	44
Observing tensions in the LSP and RS as network governance	48
Observations of the third sector and third sector observations	53
Conclusion	55

Governing ambiguities in social services: coordination and control issues Angelo Gasparre	57
Introduction	57
Theoretical and methodological framework	58
Networks in social services	61
When coordination needs networks	61
Co-design of services	63
Organizational architecture	64
When networks need coordination	67
Innovation in social services and local governance issues: an organizational point of view	71
Conclusion	75
Local Governance Networks and Community Participation in Developing Community Cohesion Strategies Derrick Purdue	76
Introduction	76
Theoretical and Policy Context	77
Governance and ambiguity: policy communities and issue networks	77
Neighbourhood Management and community participation	80
The neighbourhood and cohesion issues	81
Community cohesion in neighbourhood governance	81
The case study neighbourhood	82
Ethnicity and the neighbourhood	82
Neighbourhood cohesion issues	83
The NM Pathfinder and its approach to community cohesion	85
Community Cohesion Strategies	86
The Ambiguities of Neighbourhood Governance	89
Power and the consolidation of a policy community	89
Bottom Up or Top Down: Marginalised inclusion of community issue networks	90
Network, Hierarchy or Market: dual accountability and capacity	91
The proof of governance is in the third sector. An empirical exploration of how civic organizations tackle neighborhood problems Herman Lelieveldt, Karien Dekker, René Torenvlied and Beate Völker	93
Introduction	93
Distilling the essence of urban governance	94
Data and Fieldwork	97

Organizational characteristics	99
Neighborhood orientation	100
Organizations as problem solvers	101
From problems to activities	102
Solutions	104
Types of contacts and bridges	105
Making bridges to tackle problems	107
Conclusion	107

Building Social Policies with civil society actors. Area Plans and Participation in Milan Emanuele Polizzi	108
--	-----

Italian welfare reform and Area Plans	108
Problematic issues and challenging questions for public administration	109
The empirical research: approach and methodology	111
Policy innovation and planning processes	112
Case Studies	115
Corsico	116
San Donato	117
Conclusions	118

Participation outcomes in governance networks: the role of network ties Sarah Morgan-Trimmer	121
--	-----

Introduction	121
Participation in Regeneration in Britain	121
Regeneration Programmes as Governance Networks	122
Method	126
Findings	127
Network Structure	127
Changing Network Ties	130
Outcomes	133
Discussion	134

Deliberative neo-corporatism in Norway: Towards a new institutional framework in local governance? Bernard Enjolras	136
---	-----

Introduction	136
The Norwegian institutional framework for local policy-making	138

Policy-making: hierarchy vs. networks	140
Deliberative corporatism	142
Concluding remarks: the ambiguities of deliberative neo-corporatism	145
Civil society, deliberation and new forms of participation in EU rural development policy	147
Emanuela Bozzini
Introduction	147
Institutional devices for public deliberation: the missing link between theory and empirical research	148
The EU Leader Initiative: a laboratory for local democracy	149
The institutionalisation of deliberative practices: models from the Leader experience	151
Discussion	153
Conclusions	158
Local governance, democracy and representation	160
Rachel Palmén
Introduction	160
Methodology	161
Community Representatives ideas of Representation in the NDC Case Study	163
Community Representatives ideas of Representation in the PB Case Study	164
Key Players Views of Representation in terms of ‘Activists’ vs the ‘True Community’ in NDC and the PB process	165
Consensus, Conflict and the Representation of Minority Groups	167
Gatekeeping, Wider Representation or Depth of Knowledge	168
Conclusion	172
References	173