

Contents

|                                                                                                                         |     |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| NADJA-CHRISTINA SCHNEIDER AND BETTINA GRÄF                                                                              |     |
| Introduction .....                                                                                                      | 9   |
| SARAH JURKIEWICZ                                                                                                        |     |
| Blogging as Counterpublic? The Lebaneseand the Egyptian Blogosphere in Comparison.....                              | 27  |
| FRITZI-MARIE TITZMANN                                                                                                   |     |
| Medialisation and Social Change – The IndianOnline Matrimonial Market as a New Field of Research.....               | 49  |
| CLAUDIA NEF SALUZ                                                                                                       |     |
| Dakwahkampus.com as Informal Student Web Portalof Hizbut Tahrir Indonesia .....                              | 67  |
| CAROLA RICHTER                                                                                                          |     |
| Media Strategies of the Major Social Movement in Egypt:The Muslim Brothers' Website ikhwanonline.net .....   | 85  |
| MARCUS MICHAELSEN                                                                                                       |     |
| Linking Up for Change: The Internet and Social Movements in Iran .....                                                  | 105 |
| FREDERIK HOLST                                                                                                          |     |
| Challenging the Notion of Neutrality – Postcolonial Perspectiveson Information- and Communication Technologies..... | 127 |
| SASKIA SCHÄFER                                                                                                          |     |
| Expanding the Toolbox: Discourse Analysis and Area Studies.....                                                         | 145 |
| List of Contributors .....                                                                                              | 165 |