

Contents

Matthias Middell/Heidrun Ziemecker
Preface	7
1. On the “specialness” of capitalism	21
2. The predominance of profit over rent depends on rising mass incomes. Capitalism requires increasing mass incomes.	30
3. The absence of automatisms for transition to capitalism	50
4. The centrality of the link between economic empowerment of labour, the emergence of profit, and the transition to capitalism	70
5. Capitalist expansion and resistance: the failure of capitalist transformation	84
6. Globalisation of profit or globalisation of rent?	108
7. Bibliography	128