Inhaltsverzeichnis

Illustrations		17
Tables		19
List of Acronyms		23
1.	Framing Peace: Peace Operations and Organizational Framing	27
1.1	Organizational Framing and Strategic Peacebuilding	28
1.2	Political Sciences and Peace Operations	34
1.2.1	Framing and Peace Operations	41
1.3	Setting the Context: Actors, Levels, and Events in UN Peace Operations	42
1.3.1	UN Peace Operations as Organizations	42
1.3.2	Public Information Offices (PIO) in Peace Operations	44
1.3.3	Environments of UN Peace Operations	47
2.	Organizational Framing in UN Peace Operations: Theory, Concepts, and Hypotheses	53
2.1	Framing and Organizational Framing	53
2.2	Framing Theory. An Overview	54
2.2.1	What are Frames?	54
2.2.2	What is Framing?	56
2.2.3	Organizational Framing: Strategy and Design	58
2.3	Organizational Framing and Frame Selection in Peace Operations. Towards a Model	61
2.3.1	The Context: Peace Operations in the Field	61
2.3.2	Peace Operations: Independent Variables	62
2.3.2.1	The Kind of Situation	63
2.3.2.2	Context Credibility	65
2.3.2.3	Capacities: Security Policies	67
2.3.3	Frames as Dependent Variables – Prototypical Frames in Peace Operations	68

2.3.4 Hypotheses 72
2.3.5 Bureaucratic Efficiency as Alternative Main Hypothesis 74
2.3.5.1 UN Peace Operations as Complex Organizations: Bounded Rationality and 'Satisficing' 74
2.3.5.2 Leadership as Key Factor 75
2.3.5.3 Influencing Frame Selection: Bureaucratic Efficiency 76
2.4 Summing Up: Hypotheses and Independent Variables for Frame Selection in UN Peace Operations 77

3. Tracing Framing in Peace Operations: Methods and Case Selection 79

3.1 Methods and Peace Operations 79
3.2 Herding Mice: Process Tracing and Qualitative Methods 80
3.3 Defining Process Tracing 81
3.3.1 Inference in Process Tracing 83
3.3.2 Generalization in Process Tracing 84
3.4 Tracing Frames 85
3.4.1 Four Steps 86
3.4.2 First Step: Hypothesizing Frame Selection Mechanisms in Peace Operations 87
3.4.2.1 Specifying Independent Variables 88
3.4.2.2 Specifying Dependent Variables: Frame Selection 89
3.4.2.3 Two Preliminary Case Studies 90
3.4.3 Second Step: Tracing Frames in the Empirical Material 91
3.4.4 Third Step: Refining Causal Mechanisms by Iteration Between Theory and Data 92
3.4.4.1 Comparing Prototypical and Empirical Frames 93
3.4.4.2 Merging Frames 94
3.4.5 Fourth Step: Structured and Focused Comparison of Hypotheses and Frame Selection 94
3.5 Data 97
3.6 Case Selection 100

4. From Monitoring to Enforcing Reforms: UNMIBH in Bosnia-Hercegovina (1996-2002) 103

4.1 UNMIBH's Mandate: Monitoring and Reforming Police in BiH 104
4.2 Setup of Police Forces in Bosnia-Herzegovina 107

4.3	The Role of Media in Bosnia-Herzegovina	108
4.4	UNMIBH's Media Policy	110
4.5	Critical Periods for UNMIBH	111
4.6	Elections (1996)	112
4.6.1	Independent Variables	112
4.6.1.1	Kind of Period	112
4.6.1.2	Context Credibility	112
4.6.1.3	Security Policies	113
4.6.1.4	Bureaucratic Efficiency	115
4.6.1.5	Summary of Independent Variables	116
4.6.2	Framing a Difficult Heritage: UNMIBH's First Year	117
4.6.3	Assessment of Framing and Hypotheses	121
4.7	Introducing the Bonn Powers (September – December 1997)	124
4.7.1	Independent Variables	124
4.7.1.1	Kind of Period	124
4.7.1.2	Context Credibility	127
4.7.1.3	Security Policies	128
4.7.1.4	Bureaucratic Efficiency	130
4.7.1.5	Summary of Independent Variables	131
4.7.2	Framing New Competences: The Bonn Powers	132
4.7.3	Assessment of Framing and Hypotheses	136
4.8	Excursus: UNMIBH and Political Developments 1998-2001	138
4.9	The Mission Implementation Plan and Drawdown (2001-2002)	139
4.9.1	Independent Variables	139
4.9.1.1	Kind of Period	139
4.9.1.2	Context Credibility	140
4.9.1.3	Security Policies	140
4.9.1.3.1	MIP Core Program 1: Police Reform and Vetting	144
4.9.1.3.2	MIP Core Program 4: Institution building and Inter-Police Force Cooperation	144
4.9.1.4	Bureaucratic Efficiency	146
4.9.1.5	Summary of Independent Variables	147
4.9.2	Planning Towards Exit: Framing in 2001	148
4.9.2.1	Short summary for 2001	150
4.9.2.2	UNMIBH's Last Year – 2002 in Frames	151
4.9.3	Assessment of Framing and Hypotheses	156
4.10	From Odd One Out to Credible Actor: UNMIBH from 1996 to 2002	161

4.10.1 Structured and Focused Comparison of Independent Variables 161
4.10.2 Frames Over Time 163
4.10.3 Assessing Hypotheses for UNMIBH 163

5. From Standards to Riots: Framing Police Reforms in Kosovo (1999-2005) 169

5.1 The Case of Kosovo and the International Community 169
5.1.1 The Mandate: Resolution 1244 171
5.1.2 UNMIK Police in 1999 173
5.1.3 Media in Kosovo and Public Information 175
5.2 UNMIK between 2001 and 2005 177
5.3 Kosovo-wide Elections November 2001 179
5.3.1 Independent Variables 179
5.3.1.1 Kind of Period 179
5.3.1.2 Context Credibility 182
5.3.1.3 Security Policies 183
5.3.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 184
5.3.1.5 Summary of Independent Variables 185
5.3.2 Framing the Elections 2001 186
5.3.3 Assessing Framing and Hypotheses 191
5.4 Standards before Status 194
5.4.1 Independent Variables 194
5.4.1.1 Kind of Period 194
5.4.1.2 Context Credibility 196
5.4.1.3 Security Policies 198
5.4.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 199
5.4.1.5 Summary 200
5.4.2 Framing Standards in Kosovo 201
5.4.3 Assessing Framing and Hypotheses 204
5.5 March Riots 2004 209
5.5.1 Independent Variables 209
5.5.1.1 Kind of Period 209
5.5.1.2 Context Credibility 212
5.5.1.3 Security Policies 213
5.5.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 214
5.5.1.5 Summary 214
5.5.2 Framing Failure: The March Riots 2004 215

5.5.3	Assessing Frames during the March Riots 2004	221
5.6	Ownership and Haradinaj's Indictment (August 2004 – April 2005)	224
5.6.1	Independent Variables	224
5.6.1.1	Kind of Period	224
5.6.1.2	Context Credibility	226
5.6.1.3	Security Policies	227
5.6.1.4	Bureaucratic Efficiency	228
5.6.1.5	Summary	229
5.6.2	Framing towards Ownership?	230
5.6.3	Assessing Frames 2004/2005	235
5.7	Structured and Focused Comparison of Frames in UNMIK, 1999-2005	238
5.7.1	Independent Variables	238
5.7.2	Frames Over Time	240
5.7.3	Assessing Hypotheses for UNMIK 2001-2005	242
5.8	Epilogue: UNOSEK and the Status Proposal 2007-2008	244
6.	Rebuilding a Failed State: Framing Riots and Reforms in Liberia (2003-2007)	249
6.1	A Short History of Liberia	250
6.1.1	Security Institutions in Liberia	252
6.1.2	Media Institutions in Liberia	253
6.1.3	The Accra Peace Agreement 2003	254
6.1.4	UNMIL's Mandate	256
6.1.4.1	UNMIL Police	257
6.1.4.2	UNMIL Public Information Office	257
6.2	Critical Periods during UNMIL's tenure	259
6.3	Framing Chaos: UNMIL's Setup-Phase 2003	261
6.3.1	Independent Variables	261
6.3.1.1	Kind of Period	261
6.3.1.2	Context Credibility	263
6.3.1.3	Security Policies	264
6.3.1.4	Bureaucratic Efficiency	266
6.3.1.5	Summary	268
6.3.2	From Deployment to DDRR: Press Briefings and Frames	269
6.3.3	Assessing Framing and Hypotheses	274

6.4 Towards Peace? The Monrovia Riots 2004 278
6.4.1 Independent Variables 278
6.4.1.1 Kind of Period 278
6.4.1.2 Context Credibility 279
6.4.1.3 Security Policies 280
6.4.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 283
6.4.1.5 Summary 284
6.4.2 Framing Towards Transition: Press Briefings and Frames in 2004 284
6.4.3 Assessing Framing and Hypotheses 289
6.5 Elections 2005 293
6.5.1 Independent Variables 293
6.5.1.1 Kind of Period 293
6.5.1.2 Context Credibility: Scoring for Elections 294
6.5.1.3 Security Policies 295
6.5.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 297
6.5.1.5 Summary of Independent Variables 298
6.5.2 Framing the Elections 2006: Press Briefings and Frames 299
6.5.3 Assessment of Frames and Hypotheses 301
6.6 Consolidation and Reforms 2006-2007 305
6.6.1 Independent Variables 305
6.6.1.1 Kind of Period 305
6.6.1.2 Context Credibility 307
6.6.1.3 Security Policies 308
6.6.1.4 Bureaucratic Efficiency 310
6.6.1.5 Summary 312
6.6.2 Towards Consolidation: Frame Selection in 2006/2007 312
6.6.3 Assessing Framing and Hypotheses 321
6.7 Framing State Reconstruction in Liberia: Restoring Hope and Maintaining Confidence 324
6.7.1 Structured and Focused Comparison of Independent Variables 324
6.7.2 Frames Over Time 325
6.7.3 Assessing Hypotheses Across the Periods 328
6.7.4 Framing Peace and Security in Liberia 329

7. Framing Peace. Organizational Framing in UN Peace Operations 331

7.1 From Monitoring Training to Rebuilding Failed States: Framing in Three Peace Operations 333
7.1.1 Liberia: Rebuilding a Failed State 333

7.1.2	Kosovo	334
7.1.3	Bosnia-Herzegovina	335
7.2	Testing Hypotheses on Framing and Peace Operations	335
7.2.1	The Two Main Hypotheses	337
7.2.2	Kind of Period	338
7.2.3	Context Credibility	339
7.2.4	Security Policies	339
7.2.5	Summing Up: Testing Hypotheses of Framing Peace	339
7.3	Further Factors Across the Cases: Phases, Leadership and Mission Design	340
7.3.1	From 'Security First' to Development: The Different Phases of Peace Operations	340
7.3.2	Personality in Peacekeeping: The Role of Leadership	342
7.3.3	Mission Design	343
7.4	Theoretical and Methodological Considerations	344
7.4.1	Mixing Methods: Frame Analysis and Process Tracing	344
7.4.2	Theoretical Considerations: Framing Theory, Frame Selection and Organizational Framing	345
7.5	Implications for Peacekeeping Research: Sketching an Agenda for further Research	347