

CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION	1
Part I NATIONALISM AND CONTRACTARIANISM
1. Algernon Sidney: The Nation as the Source of Legitimacy	25
1.1 The nation as the legislator	26
1.2 Liberty as the legislative power	30
1.3 Liberty as the nation's inherent property	32
1.4 Semantic ambivalence as a political potential	34
1.5 The nation of freemen	37
1.6 Monopoly on the title	41
1.7 Conclusion	42
2. Jean-Jacques Rousseau: The Nation as the Source of Liberty	45
2.1 Rousseau and nationalism	46
2.2 The nation as a pre-political fact	53
2.3 Integral nationalism	55
2.4 Towards a truly socialised man	60
2.5 Conclusion	76
3. John Rawls: The Nation as the Source of Justice	77
3.1 Justice as reciprocity	77
3.2 The paradox of the original position	83
3.3 Classical vs. political liberalism	88
3.4 From ethnic to civic	93
3.5 Overlapping consensus	98
3.6 From public reason to social cooperation	102
3.7 The decency of peoples	110
3.8 Sovereignty as property, morality as reciprocity	114
3.9 Peoples vs. nationalities	120
3.10 Modus vivendi, or modus operandi?	123
3.11 Reciprocity as the system	124
3.12 The people as the good	126
3.13 Conclusion	132
Part II NATIONALISM AND UTILITARIANISM
4. John Stuart Mill: The Nation as the Condition of Freedom	137
4.1 The principle of liberty and the principle of nationality	138
4.2 The threshold of maturity	146

4.3	The principle of arbitrariness	147
4.4	Freedom and freemen	149
4.5	Obedience and civilisation	150
4.6	Masters and slaves	152
4.7	In search for a master-race	155
4.8	Forcing to be free	157
4.9	Civilising intervention	158
4.10	Rationalism or nationalism	160
4.11	Diversity or uniformity	162
4.12	Conclusion	166

Part III A LIBERAL AGAINST THE NATION-STATE

5.	Lord Acton: The Nation as a Negation of Liberty	171
5.1	The dialectics of nationality and multi-nationality	175
5.2	Liberty as inequality	179
5.3	Liberty as disunity	182
5.4	Democracy vs. liberty	185
5.5	Christian vs. national unity	188
5.6	Isolation of nations	189
5.7	History of liberty	190
5.8	Liberty under divine authority	195
5.9	Colonies	197
5.10	Conclusion	203

CONCLUSION	205
------------	-------	-----

BIBLIOGRAPHY	207
--------------	-------	-----